

History Department

Mrs N Biddle, Miss O Harkin
Mrs N Ireland

Year 9 will build on the skills and content knowledge they acquired in their middle school

The rise of the dictators: Mussolini, Stalin and Hitler

The causes, nature and conclusion of World War One

Welcome

Treatment of minority groups: including the Holocaust

The making of modern Britain, 1960s, 1970s, 1980s

What was healthcare like in pre-historic societies?

The People's Health c.1000-Present Day
(How and why have different factors been more important than others for individual medical developments?)

Why did surgery improve throughout history?

What is the significance of key individuals or events in the history of medical development?

Year 9

Year 10

In year 9 you will be able to choose whether to continue your journey with history and start your GCSE

Students will gain an understanding of how medicine and public health developed in Britain over a long period of time

Elizabeth I: 1568-1603

What were the internal and external threats that Elizabeth faced?

Year 10 mocks will help you make your own targets and track progress

Regular knowledge tests and recapping past topics will help you learn all your key dates

Year 12

Year 11

A Level History is split into two topics; Stuart Britain and Aspects of International Tension. Each unit makes is worth 40% and will be taught over Year 12 and 13

The department has a wide range of resources to help you with your studies

To be successful at A Level you need to develop good independent study skills

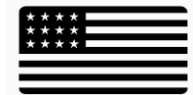

Refine and perfect your revision techniques ready for your exams

Why was it difficult to resolve Cold War tensions?

The Cold War 1945-72

History has been integrally related to political and economic decision-making for centuries.

What was life like in 1920s America? What was life like in the Great Depression?

History trains transferable skills which can lead to the most varied career paths

Year 13

Post 18

As part of your A Level you are encouraged to read around your topics: this will give you a better understanding ready for the exams

To be able to engage in historical analysis and interpretation, you should be able to identify the author or source of a piece of evidence and assess its credibility

A level coursework will make up 20% of your overall grade and be chance to explore historians perspectives on issues on 19th Century Britain

UCAS

Visit universities and make your choices

You will have two exams at the end of Year 13. Revise throughout the 2 year course

A+

History is one of the broadest subjects you can study at university. The various strands of the subject include economic, cultural, social and political history as well as the history of ideas. All of these topics can be studied at local, national or international levels.

In the past, history graduates have forged careers in academia, research, civil service, politics, journalism, consultancy, banking, business, PR, marketing, retail, accountancy and more.

