

Biddulph High School Curriculum Intent

To deliver a broad and enriching curriculum through engaging and challenging lessons that provide a wide range of opportunities for all students to achieve their potential.

Students will all be prepared to take their next steps in a diverse and ever changing future ready to make a positive contribution to society.

Through a broad programme of extracurricular activities students will have the opportunities to showcase their talents and experience new challenges.

We value individuals and all that they can offer as well as supporting each other with kindness and empathy.

Curriculum Intent for [History]:

Our aim in the History department is centred around placing students in an environment where they want to learn and can naturally discover their true interests and passions. We believe that studying History is an opportunity for students (through words, concepts and ideas) to interpret the world and to be architects of their own destiny. Immersion into the selected historical periods will allow students to come into contact with some of the greatest thoughts and actions of all time. Appreciating and celebrating the value of historical figures who have changed the course of History encourages us all to have conversations about how we can be better and shows what the best might be.

Students will be provided with opportunities to access historical scholarship and primary texts so that their knowledge is authentic and has integrity. By investigating the vast richness of the subject, students will be encouraged to make decisions about what is relevant to the ever-shifting “now”. We are committed through our curriculum to empowering our students with the necessary knowledge and skills for the future and to ensuring that History is a subject for all.

All teachers will follow the schemes of work provided by the department. This will ensure that all students receive the same high-quality provision. All units of work will provide a clear outline of the knowledge and skills required and assessments will ensure that this knowledge has been retained and that skills can be evidenced.

Teachers will ensure that gaps are closed through regular monitoring within the classroom. DINT activities will allow for interleaving and recap of previous learning. Misconceptions will be identified through effective questioning and the regular inspection of student work.

[History] Medium Term Overview
Year 13	Autumn/Spring/Summer Term 1/2/3/4/5/6	Unit Title: Aspects of International Relations 1890-1917	No of Lessons: 56
Assessment: Students will be required to work on both essay writing technique and the skills required for analysing primary sources. A range of practise questions will be asked throughout the course.	Overview: Depth Study Students will gain deep understanding of change and continuity through the study of the interrelationships of a variety of perspectives as indicated in the content. They will develop detailed knowledge and understanding of developments and the roles of individuals, groups, ideas and ideology. Depth Studies also promote an understanding of the complexity of the historical process through a detailed focus on a specific period of change. Content is presented chronologically in sections as is most appropriate to the period of study. An examination question may arise from one, or more than one, section of specified content. To demonstrate depth of historical knowledge and understanding, students should be able to make links and comparisons between the aspects of the period studied. Therefore, it is important that specified content should be studied both in its own right and holistically. In this way links and contrasts will be rooted in secure knowledge and understanding. Unit 2K: Aspects of International Relations 1918-1941 This option provides for the study in depth of a period in which political ambitions and rivalries between nations plunged the world into major wars. It develops concepts such as nationalism, militarism and the balance of power and encourages students to reflect on the causes of war and what makes international diplomacy succeed or fail.
Essential Knowledge development: Students will be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>develop their interest in, and enthusiasm for, history and an understanding of its intrinsic value and significance</li> <li>acquire an understanding of different identities within society and an appreciation of aspects such as social, cultural, religious and ethnic diversity, as appropriate</li> <li>build on their understanding of the past through experiencing a broad and balanced course of study</li> </ul>	Essential Skills (what must students be able to demonstrate): Students will be able to: Assessment Objective One: Demonstrate, organise and communicate knowledge and understanding to analyse and evaluate the key features related to the periods studied, making substantiated judgements and exploring concepts, as relevant, of cause, consequence, change, continuity, similarity, difference and significance.	Lessons: The end of the First World War and the peace settlement, 1917–1923 (A-level only) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The collapse of the autocratic empires: Russia, Germany, Austria-Hungary and the Ottoman Empire; nationalist ambitions and the impact on international relations and peace-making</li> <li>Peace-making, 1919–1923: the roles and aims of Clemenceau, Wilson and Lloyd George; the Treaty of Versailles; the East and Southern European settlements and the settlement with Turkey</li> </ul>

There are two sections to the examination paper. In Section A there will be a compulsory question which tests students’ ability to analyse and evaluate the value of primary sources (AO2). Two primary sources will be provided. In response to the question, candidates will be required to make an assessment of the value of the sources in relation to an event or issue. The question is worth 25 marks. In Section B, two questions will be set of which students answer one. Either question tests AO1 and is designed to test historical understanding in depth. The focus of these questions will be, as appropriate, on causation, change, continuity, similarity and significance	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Challenges to the peace settlement: the consequences of the USA’s return to isolationism and the League of Nations; the responses to the post-war settlement in France, Britain and Germany</li> <li>• The state of international relations by 1923: the position of the USA and Russia in world affairs; continuing border disputes; the occupation of the Ruhr and its consequences</li> </ul> Attempts at maintaining the peace, 1923–1935 (A-level only) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The ‘Spirit of Locarno’: consolidation of the post-war settlement; attempts at disarmament and conciliation in international relations, including the Dawes Plan, the Geneva Protocol and the Kellogg-Briand Pact</li> <li>• The Depression and its impact on international relations: the failures of the Lausanne and London Conferences on international debts and reparations</li> <li>• Changing balance of power: the ambitions of Italy, Japan and Germany</li> <li>• The collapse of collective security: the reasons for and consequences of the failure of League of Nations in the Manchurian and Abyssinian Crises</li> </ul> The coming of war, 1935–1941 (A-level only) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Germany’s challenges to the Treaty of Versailles: the aims and actions of Hitler</li> </ul>

Either question will be in the form of a judgement about an issue or development and students are required to analyse and evaluate the judgement. The question carries 25 marks. The questions in Section B, in order to test AO1 in its entirety, will have a range of foci both in any one paper and over time. Thus, in addition to targeting the generic qualities of organisation, analysis, evaluation and judgement, questions will also test the range of foci in the AO: cause, consequence, change, continuity, similarity, difference and significance. Consistent with the nature of historical analysis, a single question may require students to demonstrate understanding of more than one of these perspectives.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The international response to German, Italian and Japanese aggression: the Rhineland Crisis; the Anschluss; the Spanish Civil War; Italy and Albania; war in China; alliances amongst the aggressors</li> <li>• The outbreak of war in Europe: appeasement; the Czech Crisis; the crisis over Poland and the Nazi-Soviet Pact; the outbreak of war; the reaction of Italy to the outbreak of war</li> <li>• From Western European to World War: the reasons for the escalation to world war; the entry of the Soviet Union; Japan, Pearl Harbor and the entry of the USA.</li> </ul>
